

General Astro-Locality-Map Report

Introduction

Your Astro-Locality-Map (ALM) is based on the well known technique of astro-mapping called Astro*Carto*Graphy(R) (A*C*G) popularised by Jim Lewis.

The Astro-Locality-Map superimposes planetary data on to a map of the world and shows where each of the planets in a birth chart are actually crossing the meridian or horizon. While this map is technically complex to construct, without the aid of a computer, it is relatively simple to put to use. The geographical locations of the planetary lines represent places where the individual can expect to experience the effects of the planet under observation, either by going to a location on the line, or having important contacts, such as family, romantic or business connections there. The most important thing to consider when interpreting the ALM is the condition of the planets in the natal chart.

The Planetary Lines

The Midheaven (M) Line

The vertical planetary line marked with the letter "M" indicates where a planet is culminating, i.e. directly overhead. Culminating planets correspond with the Midheaven or Medium Coeli, usually the 10th House cusp. The Midheaven is the highest point in a chart. It represents personal aspirations, reputation and career. Planets on this line describe how these areas are experienced in the locations the line passes through.

The Imum Coeli (I) Line

The vertical planetary line marked with the letter "I" indicates where a planet is anti-culminating, i.e. directly below - the point where the lower Meridian intercepts the ecliptic. The Imum Coeli corresponds with the 4th House cusp and represents family matters, domestic circumstances, real estate and later life. Planets on this line describe how these areas are experienced in the locations the line passes through.

The Ascendant (A) Line

The curved planetary line marked with the letter "A" indicates where a planet is on the Ascendant - i.e. rising in the East. The Ascendant corresponds with the cusp of the 1st House and represents personal expression, the face you show the world and how you project your personality. A planet on this line describes how you will present yourself to others at the locations the line passes through.

The Descendant (D) Line

The curved planetary line marked with the letter "D" indicates where a planet is on the Descendant - i.e. setting in the West. The Descendant corresponds with the cusp of the 7th House and represents the type of energies or people you attract, such as partners or enemies. A planet on this line describes the effect other people have on you at the locations the line passes through.

The Direction (d) Line

The Direction Line is based on the technique of astro-mapping called Local Space Astrology(R) (LS) popularised by Michael Erlewine. For each planet, a line is drawn through the birthplace in the direction of the planet. This line extends around the entire Earth forming a great circle. A planet's quality, energy or power is experienced anywhere along the length of the line.

The planet lines are also marked with either a "Z" or an "N".

Z (for Zenith) indicates where the planet is directly overhead; i.e. planet on the MC.

N (for Nadir) indicates where the planet is directly below; i.e. planet on the IC.

In addition, Aspects and Midpoints can be used with planetary lines.

Planetary Crossings (Parans)

The planetary crossings - points on the map where a vertical line intersects a curved line - represent a merging of two planetary energies at the degree of latitude the intersection occurs. It is thought that the planetary influence is at its strongest at the locality of actual intersection; however the effects are also experienced around the globe at the same latitude of the crossing.

Orbs of Influence

Planetary Lines: 7 degrees East or West of line (approx. 1130km/700 miles)

Planetary Crossings: 2 degrees North or South of a crossing (approx. 161km/100 miles)
